

Private Trivia Sessions in 2024

How it works

Trivia events are a fantastic way to bring colleagues together for an enjoyable, interactive, and social experience. Our questions cover a wide range of general knowledge - everyone will be an expert in something! They usually run for around 1.5 hours and consist of two rounds of 20 questions, with a break in the middle. We can tailor the event to suit the space and equipment on hand.

Inclusions

- Creation of 40 trivia questions incorporating a variety of question types.
- Preparation of Powerpoint (if necessary) and other materials including pens and answer sheets.
- A host to engage your players.
- Audio equipment (if necessary)

Pricing

Contact us for a definite quote – but as a bit of a ballpark:

The total cost is usually $600 (+GST) for a 1.5-2 hour long trivia session in Brisbane hosted and facilitated by Aimon with customised questions, mini games and all logistical issues covered. The price to have another one of our fantastic hosts run the session is $450 (+GST).

We normally ask for a $100 (+GST) non-refundable deposit to secure your booking and will invoice for the remainder after the session.

About Isolation Trivia

Aimon Clark is a host, writer, musician and podcaster based in Brisbane. He runs the monthly music gameshow Not On Your Rider which regularly sells out Brisbane's Fortitude Music Hall and The Triffid and has featured guests Robert Irwin, Kate Miller-Heidke, Ben Lee, Steven Bradbury and members of Powderfinger and The Go-Betweens. In 2022 he took the show to Splendour in the Grass and packed out the Forum stage. Here are some clips from the shows -: Robert's Animal Game, Mystery Train Voice.

In 2022 Aimon partnered with Australian television legend Ian 'Dicko' Dickson to create the new game show 'Game On Mole'. He also runs a regular trivia segment on ABC Brisbane Radio.

While touring the world in his indie band The Creases in 2015, Aimon started his own trivia business, wanting to create events that were engaging, thought provoking and gave people the chance to answer questions relevant to their daily lives. Over the next few years his trivia nights became cult hits and every week people would cram into venues to play. In 2020 Aimon started a trivia stream which attracted thousands of players every week and created a community of trivia fans across the globe. Aimon has been featured in articles by The Sydney Morning Herald, Courier Mail and appeared on the TV shows The Chase and Think Tank.

He has hosted trivia for clients including the British Broadcasting Corporation, Shell, Ambulance Victoria, Griffith University, Arcadis, Janus Henderson, and Bupa.
